

ECONOMICLINE

The Economic Line radiators are made from an aluminium alloy which allows rapid transmission of heat, and due to its anti-corrosion stability, guarantees an almost unlimited lifetime.

12 year
warranty

The technological procedure for manufacturing radiators comprises the following phases: die casting, assembly and coating.

The quality is monitored during complete manufacturing process. Quality control begins with the chemical analysis of melting charge and ends with testing of water tightness of both individual columns and complete radiator unit.

The Economic Line radiators are packaged in heat-shrunk protective plastic foil. During the mounting procedure the foil needs to be removed; just break it open at coupling and suspension points. The foil is to be kept in place until end of construction work in order to protect the radiator from dust and possible damage.

Radiator Economic Line is coated with anaforetic basic colour and epoxy-polyester powder. The standard colour is white, RAL 9016, but there is a range of Lipovica colours to chose from.

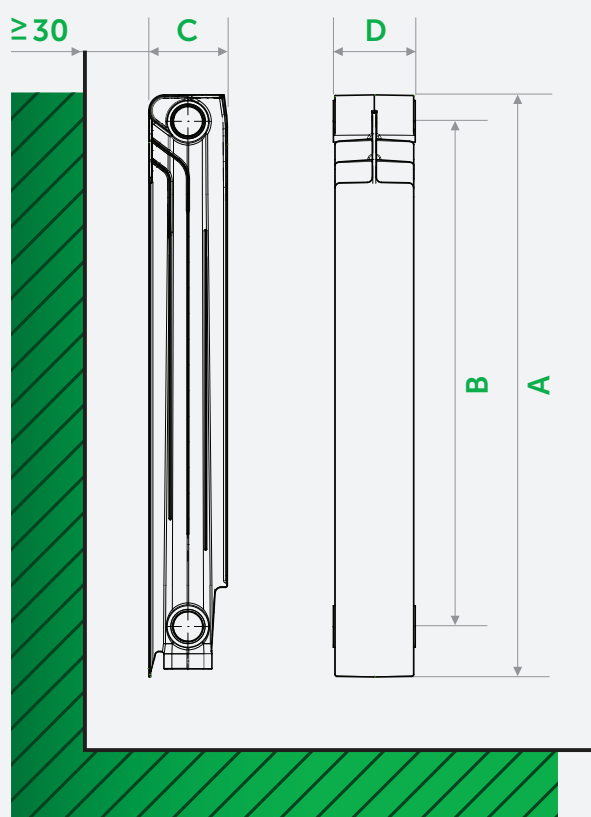

Due to their high quality, good mechanical properties, durability and exceptional resistance to corrosion, Lipovica radiators come with a 12-year guarantee.

The standard at the Lipovica factory is to manufacture high-quality products.
